OFFICER MISSIVES

EXCHEQUER

Unto all gentles, greetings.

Please welcome your new Exchequer deputy, Kate! Thank you, Kate for your support. We are all appreciative of your co-autocrating our May event. This brings us to our Unslung Heroes event.

Proceeds help us with our meeting location costs for the year. Please take opportunities to support Aston Tor in 2019 with help at Unslung.

Not much more to report here, I plan on being at meetings if you have any questions.

YIS,
Gerald Kendall

MINISTER OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Unto the populace of the Canton of Aston Tor comes greetings from you A&S Minister.

As we leave winter with his icy breath and snowy continence behind, our thoughts turn to spring, new life and new beginnings. It is my hope that we have all taken time to plan for the future, with an eye toward projects both of the practical and the whimsical varieties. With that in mind, I look forward to seeing and reading about your projects and you're A&S entries.

Congratulations to everyone who entered Queen's Prize Tourney, it was a wonderful turnout. So many inspiring projects.

CHRONICLER

Greetings!

I apologize again for the lateness of this newsletter. An effort to renovate my workshop took longer than expected and left me with nowhere to do my work. However, construction is now complete and the third quarter's newsletter should be produced on time.

You may notice this issue is light on content. If you'd like to help improve the quality of our newsletters you simply need to send anything you may have to chronider@astontor.calontir.org along with the proper release form, which can now be found at <https://astontor.calontir.org>.

Thine Verily,
Zygmunt Gdański

LILIES WAR XXXIII

LIFE AND TIMES OF WILLIAM THE MARSHAL

Every year in June, more than a thousand people converge on the shores of Lake Smithville, an hour north of Kansas City, to spend more than a week recreating the medieval, Renaissance, and ancient eras of the pre-seventeenth century world.

Most of them are members of the Society for Creative Anachronism and its central-US regional group, the Kingdom of Calontir, which covers Missouri, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and northwest Arkansas - although many travel from as far away as the Rocky Mountains and the Gulf Coast.

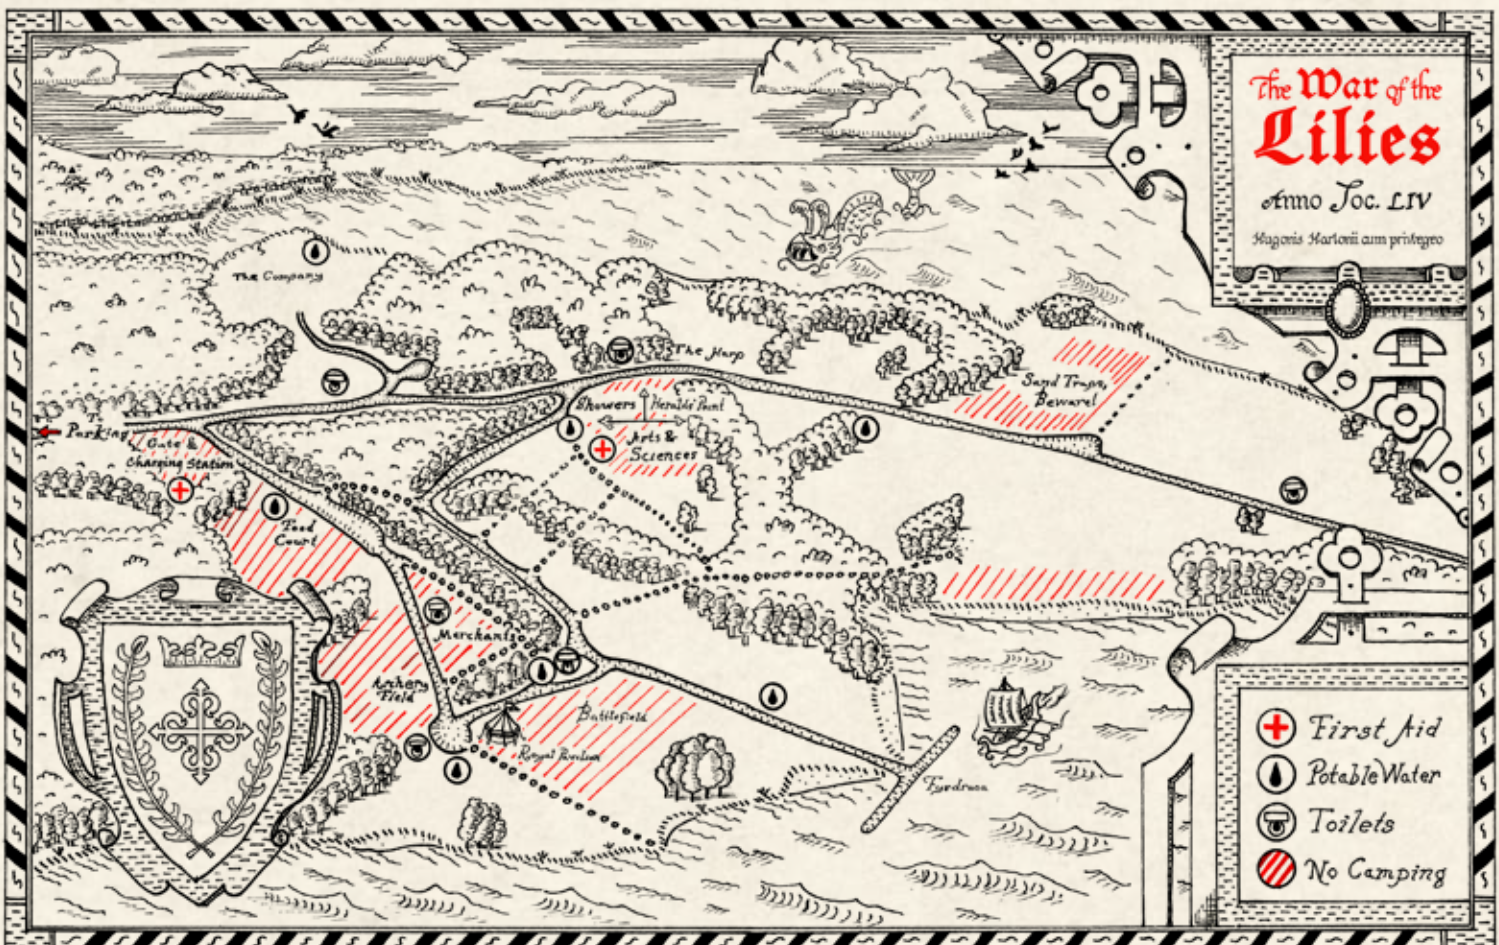

We offer you our hospitality. Come join us and experience the pagentry of medieval combat and archery, historic arts and crafts, fun parties, and... even a real Viking longship.
